DECALS PRINTED BY

Option 1: F-102A 54-1373, Hawaii Air National Guard, 199th FIS

This aircraft had the early type (Case X) wing. Most HI ANG aircraft were equipped with the IRST ball in front of the canopy at this timeframe (not shown in profile).

Use the optional markings for 56-1371 for a Case XX-winged HI ANG aircraft (use decal S19 instead of S18).

Option 2: F-102A 56-1188, Texas Air National Guard, 111th FIS
(Former President George W. Bush's ANG unit)

This aircraft had the early type (Case X) wing. Most TX ANG aircraft were equipped with the IRST ball in front of the canopy at this timeframe (not shown in profile).

Option 3: F-102A 56-1476, Pennsylvania Air National Guard, 146th FIS

Front landing gear door.

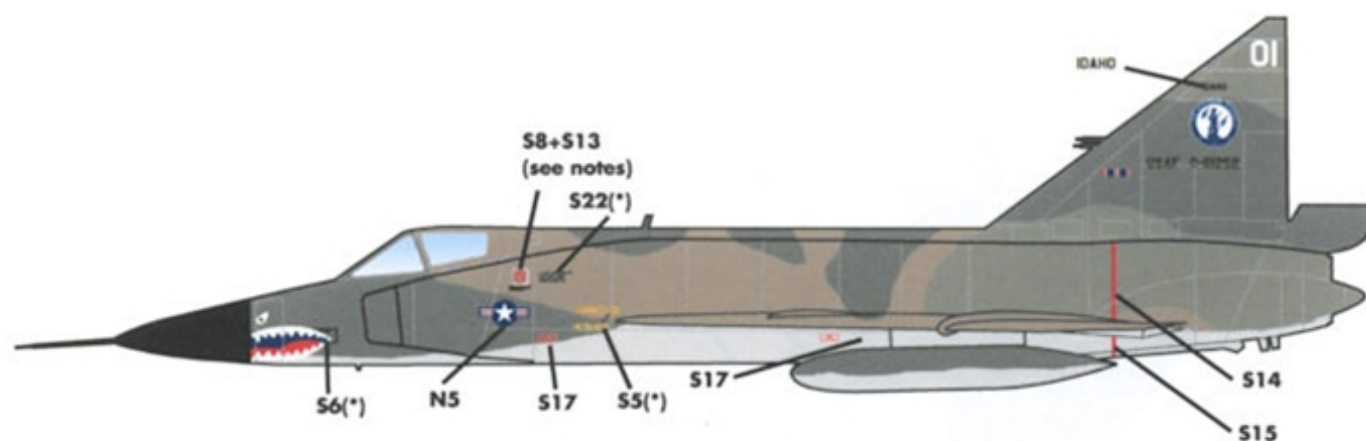

This aircraft had the late type (Case XX) wing and IRST ball in front of the canopy at this timeframe

Starboard (right side) front fuselage stencil placement can be seen at the right:

(*): Decal to be applied to this side only.
(): Decal in parentheses to be applied to other side.

Option 4: F-102A 56-1263, Idaho Air National Guard, 190th FIS

This aircraft had the early type (Case X) wing. While it most likely had the IRST ball during its service, no IRST is visible in the photos of the aircraft taken after the sharkmouth was painted, presumably shortly before the aircraft was retired and converted into a target drone.

Photos of this aircraft show a white square around the ejection seat warning triangle on each side. Use decal S13 along with S8 if you would like to portray this.

The aircraft is painted in standard SEA scheme. For a complete camouflage painting pattern of this aircraft, please visit:
