HISTORY.

The forerunner of the Moraine Saulnier 406C1, was the M.S.405 which was first flown at Villaouilly on the 8th of August, 1935, to meet the requirements of the French Air Ministry Specification of 1934.

When the war began in 1939 the 406C1 was the French principal interceptor fighter, but with the German onslaught of 1940 it found itself outclassed by the Messerschmitt BF 109E, but even so the Armée de l'Air was able to claim 269 kills.

The Moraine Saulnier was also used by the Finnish, Polish and many other Air Forces.
